

"America in the World: Polish and American Perspectives" with the students of National War College

A group of National War College students and graduates visited Poland on May 11-15, 2010 for their international program. The group are a mix of military from all the services (mostly Lieutenant Colonels) and civilians from other agencies like the State Department or CIA. During their program in Poland the group will meet with the General Staff, National Security Bureau representatives and university students to discuss Polish-American relations in respective fields.